Class History

Nothing is more final than writing a history. It means that everything in it belongs to the past. It spells the end of one era and the beginning of another. And now time tells us that the history of our class must be written. The two pages it will fill must omit the joys, the sorrows, and most of the laughter because history is interested in facts.

Our beginnings as a class were not extraordinary. We began with twenty-eight members and went through the pangs of first grade almost unnoticed. Following in the footsteps of other classes, we were shepherded through an elementary school play and enjoyed the sound of applause, the footlights, and the attention.

We were proud to step over the threshold into Seventh Grade, which meant high school. We know we felt bigger then than we are in actuality now. We didn't come down to size until two years later.

The Freshman year of every class is a memorable one. This is the year of arrival, the year of real acceptance. For a week we paraded the grounds and halls looking like circus clowns and painted like Hopi Indians.

Our Sophomore and Junior years were our years of ambition. We went into business mostly to finance the Junior Prom. Every class believes that its Prom is the best and our class was no exception.

Our Senior year was our best year. Only eighteen of us remained, but we were the elders of the school, so we lost no time in asserting our exalted position. Looking back on this year makes us reluctant to admit that it really is our last one. No one knows where our paths may lead, but we are too much involved with our plans for Class Night, Commencement, and Washington to be too concerned. It has been a good twelve years, so good that we look to the future with confidence gained from the good things that have been ours in the past.

Last Will

Know all men by these presents:

THAT WE, THE SENIOR CLASS OF TURNPIKE HIGH SCHOOL, DO PUBLISH THIS AS OUR LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT:

- I, Theresa Mosha, leave my temper to Peter Kratoski.
I, Francis Karpovich, leave my shy ways to Danny Lee O'Donnell.
I, Laura Johnston, leave my flirtatious ways to Bernice Yorkin.
I, Shirley Setzer, leave my admiration of St. Basil to Frank Bendineby.
I, John Schaffer, leave my voice to William Durland.
I, Sophia Bahr, leave my giggle to Anna Rodriguez.
I, Lucy Haman, leave my reckless driving to Nathan Adams.
I, Albert Zosh, leave my wavy hair to Alex Kleiner.
I, Loretta Bonci, leave my walk to Betty Ann Opishinski.
I, Sam Minier, leave my nonsense to Catherine McDonald.
I, Janet Springer, leave my talkative ways to Mary Alice Vogel.
I, Lucy Haman, leave my report card to Patsy Cox.
I, Rose Striney, leave my smile to Shirley White.
I, Walter Truck, leave my ability to shirk work to Yvonne Sharoski.
I, Marian Delovick, leave my gum-cracking to Shirley Beaver.
I, Kathryn McDonald, leave my singing ability to Carl Barry.
I, Albert Zosh, leave my seat on the bench to John Woodak.
I, Mary Louise Hoover, leave my height to Patsy Jean Chewak.
I, Loretta Bonci, leave my ability to draw to Joan Saunders.
I, Edward Zavaroski, leave my studious ways to Luda Evangelisti.
I, Michael Bednan, leave my black hair to Roseanne Lukachik.
